Welcoming 100 Ukrainian Refugee Families

Pan Pacific International Holdings Corporation (Headquarters: Tokyo, Japan; Representative Director, President, and CEO: Naoki Yoshida) (“PPIH”) is pleased to announce that it will be welcoming 100 Ukrainian refugee families as part of its humanitarian assistance efforts to Ukraine.

On March 2, the Japanese government announced its intention to accept Ukrainian refugees as part of its humanitarian assistance efforts to Ukraine. The PPIH group and its founder, Takao Yasuda, believe that this policy of the Japanese government should be carried out and have also decided to take in 100 Ukrainian refugee families.

We intend to welcome 100 families of Ukrainian refugees that have been certified by the government and further develop this initiative by, for example, providing the families with financial assistance, support with their livelihood and job opportunities.

We hope that many of you will understand our intentions for this project, and that the circle of support for Ukrainian refugees will further expand in the future. We would greatly appreciate your support.

The PPIH group will continue to proactively provide humanitarian assistance from a long-term perspective.
